Nano crystallised glass replicates the look and shine of premium quality stone or crystal. This material is primarily imported from China and is a great way to add sophistication and impart a high-end luxurious look to the decor. So, if you are looking for a trendy new material that could overcome the flaws of natural material, then this would be it.

Nano crystallised glass is a very hard, long-lasting and highly durable material that is hard to chip or break. Its highly reflective surface make it a popular substitute for stone. It is very dense and non-porous, which makes it stain-, scratch- and acid- resistant, and therefore, easy to maintain.

Also, this material does not need to be sealed. It does not support the growth of bacteria, viruses, mould or mildew, which makes it one of the most hygienic materials available in the market. It is eco-friendly and recyclable, since it is made up of natural minerals.
